

Zorgniotti Fund 2023 – Summary proposed project SLAMS

Improvement the understanding of Sexual Medicine in Latin America (2023-2024)

Background:

The purpose of this project is to support continuing education in sexual medicine and foster development of expertise in this field. The funding is intended to supplement continuing education and participation in symposium with several courses of immersion about interesting topics of sexual medicine. In this project it will be discuss the management and treatment of patients with sexual disorders such as digital pornography, anabolic steroids abuse, genital aesthetics, and transgender sexuality. These activities will be developed in countries in which sexual medicine needs to be encouraged. The board of directors of SLAMS will coordinate the meetings in the Argentina, Chile, and Brazil. The following information may be used in our program of continuing education: "This project is endorsed by the International Society for Sexual Medicine (ISSM) - Grants from Zorgniotti - Foundation". The target audience will include urologists, endocrinologists, gynecologists, family doctors, psychologists, sex therapists, postgraduation students of the health field from Latin America. The expect number of attenders in this project will be approximately 300 attendees. The official language of the Symposia will be Spanish in Argentina and Chile; and Portuguese in Brazil. The speakers from each country (Argentina, Chile, and Brazil) will be invited according to the specific expertise. The duration of this scientific meeting will 1 day (all day long). In the Scientific Program the following topics will be discussed: digital pornography, anabolic steroids abuse, genital aesthetics, transgender sexuality, sexual violence in Latin America, and sexual health of adolescents. All speakers and moderators invited to participate in symposia will be members of SLAMS and will not receive any financial compensation (fee) for their participation. For better logistics of accommodation and venue of events, we will try to hold the symposia in a hotel that does not characterize a Resort, so we will provide accommodation, airfare and meals to our speakers.
