

Zorgniotti Fund 2024 – Summary proposed project SLAMS

Promoting Basic and Clinical Research in the Sexual Medicine in Latin America

Background

The purpose of this project is to promote basic and clinical research in sexual medicine and discuss the main topics in this field. The funding is intended to supplement research and participation in scientific forums with several presentations by specialists and discussions mediated by distinguished professionals in the field of sexual medicine. In this project it will be discuss the management and treatment of patients with sexual disorders such as digital pornography, anabolic steroids abuse, genital aesthetics, transgender sexuality, and female and male sexual dysfunctions. These activities will be developed in countries in which sexual medicine needs to be updated. The board of directors of SLAMS will coordinate the meetings in the Brazil and Argentina. The following information may be used in our program of basic and clinical research: “This project is endorsed by the International Society for Sexual Medicine (ISSM) - Grants from Zorgniotti - Foundation”. The target audience will include urologists, endocrinologists, gynecologists, psychiatrics, family doctors, psychologists, sex therapists, postgraduation students of the health field from Latin America. The expect number of attenders in this project will be approximately 600 attendees in both countries. The official language of the Symposia will be Portuguese in Brazil, and Spanish in Argentina. The speakers from each country will be invited according to the specific expertise. The duration of this scientific meeting will 1 day (all day long). In the Scientific Program the following topics will be discussed: pornography (digital), anabolic steroids abuse (testosterone), genital aesthetics (penile enlargement), transgender sexuality, and female (low desire, pain, anorgasmia) and male (erectile dysfunction, Peyronie’s disease, priapism) sexual dysfunctions. All speakers and moderators invited to participate in this forum will be members of SLAMS and will not receive any financial compensation (fee) for their participation. For better logistics of accommodation and venue of events, we will try to hold the forum in a hotel that does not characterize a Resort, so we will provide accommodation, airfare and meals to our speakers.
